PROVIDENCE AND ABOLITIONISM.

The Abolition Governor of Illinois is one of the few honest leaders of his party in the North. He does not seek to disguise his object in so energetically escanding LINCOLK. Consequently, so tong as his purposs was not the distinctly avowed purpose of his government, i.e was satisfied with the suncessive defeats of the Federal armies and Pederal plans. But he is satisfied now, for he says, " it seems that Providence has protracted the war, and subjected our [the Northern] people to fre quent humiliations and reverses, for the purpose of mak ing the destruction of slavery inevitable." He hoodly f liews this with his views, saying :

If the first impressions entertained by the Problems and the nation—that the levy of seventy-five thousand men was sufficient to inclinidate the rebels into shade. sion : If our arms in the first testance had been ever where triumphast; if the grand army of the Posema had driven back the rebels at Manuscas, had taken their mond, and planted the flag upon the capt of every State, and we had everywhere been victorious by land and by san crashing the enemy as it were within the contracting?
